

4.1.1.1. raw Materials

It called natural raw materials into raw materials. Spontaneously, yet without any external coercion and human hands are natural substances. Stone, soil, timber, air, water, are substances found in nature. these substances are called natural substance, used as raw materials while obtaining various products.